

Preliminary Workshop Schedule for 2010

Anne Field

May 7th and 8th

In this workshop students will weave and finish several samples to gain an understanding of the structure of collapse weave.

For the two day workshop, students will come along with their looms already warped, then various samples will be woven and discussions on the relative values of active and passive yarns will lead to an understanding of why and when collapse happens. Students will then choose whether to continue sampling, or to weave a scarf. All weft yarns will be provided
